Basketball Schedule to be Announced Shortly.

The regular games in the Inter-Class Basketball League will start next week, the schedule to be published in the "Daily" in the course of a day or so.

The managers, etc., of clubs are again reminded of the following regulations regarding entries:

All entries for the Inter-Class Basketball series must be in the hands of the executive before six o'clock Friday, Nov. 10th.

The name of the class representative and that of a nominee to the board of referees must accompany the entry. Entries should be given to Grain or Eadie or left on the notice board of the Union.

Games will be commenced on Monday next, and will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, between the hours of 5 and 8 o'clock. Any team unable to play during any of these hours must note the same on their entry.

An application for a practice hour will not be treated as an entry. On account of the large number of teams entering this year, it has been found impossible to carry out the original plan of giving each class a separate hour for practice.

MEETING OF UNION HOUSE COMMITTEE

"Smokers" and Informals are Discussed.

MUSICAL THURSDAY.

Donation of Books to Be Made to Redpath Library

The year's activities were discussed at length by the House Committee of the Union at a meeting in the Council Room yesterday.

Rochester called the meeting together promptly at 5.15. The first matter to be discussed was the coming Informal Dance to be held on December 1st. It was decided to have the music supplied by the McGill Dance Orchestra, whose performances in the past has endeared it to all the student body. The number of tickets to be sold will not exceed 140 and it therefore behooves all those who are interested to watch the notices and be there before the other fellow when the sale commences.

With regard to Informals in general, in view of the fact that in the past the cafeteria has always been able to supply excellent refreshments at reasonable rates, it was decided to request the Dance Committee to refer to the House Committee before any arrangements for outside food should be made.

"Smokers" were next discussed. Owing to the enormous success of the last one, it was decided to hold many others as soon as programmes could be arranged. It was also moved that Sunday Musicales should be held each week, the music to be supplied by the various Glee Club organizations.

The question of billiards came up. It was moved that in order to raise funds the "pay-as-you-play" system should be continued. Nutting suggested that each member of the Committee should play at least one hour per day and in this way the house funds would appreciate considerably. His motion was not passed.

The Annual Board have now arranged with Notmans to set aside Monday for Medicine, Tuesday for Science and Wednesday for Dentistry. It is advisable that all juniors attend between the hours of 9 to 10, 12 to 2.00 and 4.30 to 6.00 and 8.00 to 10.00 on Monday and Wednesday evenings. Juniors who cannot possibly attend at these hours may go at any time suitable to them during the day allotted to their faculty by making a special appointment with Notmans. Saturday has been allotted to any faculty, but all juniors who find it convenient, are urged to attend, especially the Commerce students who have not yet been photographed. Pictures must positively be completed by November 20th. Class executives are urged to get in touch immediately with their faculty representative on the board if they wish to have their class taken. GOVERNMENT DEFEATED BY OPPOSITION

Sir Arthur Currie Opened Mock Parliament.

COUNT 148—139.

Bolsheviki Burst into Assembly and Gibberishly Demanded Hearing.

Opened by Sir Arthur Currie as Governor-General, and with Mr. J. C. Hackett, K.C., honorary member for Frontenac, as Speaker of the House, the Mock Parliament held its first session last night, at which the Government was defeated on the question of an amendment to the Speech from the Throne, concerning private ownership of railways, by a count of 148 to 139 in favor of the Opposition, the Constitutional Party.

The evening was a signal success. The Union ball-room was jammed and the ladies' gallery was overflowing, many of the co-eds having to find room on the main floor. Among the members of the faculty present were Dean Laing and Miss Hurlbatt.

Sir Arthur Currie, with a bodyguard furnished by the C.O.T.C., opened the session. The stern rigid routine of parliamentary custom, the Sergeant-at-Arms, the Clerk of the House, and the Mace, all added a dignity which was strangely in contrast with the spirits of the students.

The speeches of the members were varied. Some were strictly humorous while others were of a more serious nature on more serious topics. R. K. Jones was particularly impressive when he spoke of the great loss suffered by the university through the deaths of Eric O. Taylor and H. Holtham, and expressed the deep sympathy felt by students towards the families of the deceased.

During the debate the House was rudely disturbed by the forced entry of several rather "Bolsheviki-looking" laborers who were, with considerable difficulty, ejected. So unexpected was their appearance and so well did the men carry out their parts that the incident was highly amusing.

Both the Prime Minister, in the person of R. K. Jones, and V. Barré as leader of the Opposition delivered well directed, telling speeches. V. Barré spoke in a most telling manner which proved him to be a speaker far above the average.

To Fortune must go the honors of the evening for the most humorous oration. Though at times he might have trespassed over the boundary of good taste, his remarks were extremely amusing. His jokes always seemed spontaneously and always relevant to the subject.

Among the speakers during the evening were Brewer, J. O'Brien, Gaboury, Fortune, Spector, Cohen and many others.

After J. C. Hackett, K.C., had been appointed Speaker of the House, the customary three knocks were heard at the door and the Governor-General in the person of Sir Arthur Currie, was admitted to the House by the Sergeant-at-Arms. He ascended the Throne and proceeded to read the "Speech from the Throne, which incorporated the main ideals of the Progressive Party of the McGill Mock Parliament. The address was written and prepared by the late premier, R. K. Jones, and outlined the policy of the Government to be pursued during this session. It included the

MONSTROUS PARADE FOR ADMIRAL SIMS

American Hero to be Drawn by Students.

BAND IN ATTENDANCE.

Paraders to Meet at Union at 3.45.

At the meeting of Class Presidents held yesterday "Windy" Brewer and C. Hay were appointed as a committee to organize a monster parade to conduct Admiral Sims from Sir Arthur Currie's home to the Royal Victoria College.

A decorated carriage, drawn by hundreds of students, is being arranged in which Admiral Sims will be carried. There will be a large band to put the required snap in the parade and every student is requested to turn out to form the body-guard and give a few demonstrations of what McGill students are made of. It is expected that there will be at least one thousand out, so make sure you are one of them. Lectures are suspended at 3.45 so that every undergraduate will have the opportunity to turn out and make this parade be one of the noted things around McGill and something to speak about with pride after it is all over.

A little coloring will add greatly to the parade, so all are requested to wear a McGill sweater or ribbons of some sort or carry McGill banners.

Admiral Sims comes here to receive from McGill an honorary degree conferred upon him in absentia when he was actively engaged in naval work. The Convocation ceremony arranged for today at 4.15 p.m. will be one of the most striking that McGill ever has witnessed.

The rosters will be in charge of Nutting, who will conduct them in the various yells, on the parade, and in the Convocation Hall, where they will all be massed together. The Routers' Band is requested to report to Stevens at the Union at three-thirty p.m.

PRINCIPAL CURRIE EULOGIZES SIMS

"No Man More Worthy of Honour."

Sir Arthur Currie, when approached by the "Daily" last night with reference to today's Convocation, said:

"There have been many great men who have received degrees from McGill, but there is no man more worthy of the honor than Admiral Sims. Admiral Sims is a man who has always stood high up in the minds of the public, because he has stood up for that Anglo-Saxon friendship which means so much to the living condition of mankind."

Admiral Sims has been informed that he is to speak to an audience today chiefly composed of youth. As such he will, it is thought, have a message which will appeal particularly to the students of the university.

MISS ROBINS WILL DO CLASS HISTORY

A meeting of R.V.C. '24 was held on Wednesday, Nov. 8th, at which a number of important questions were discussed.

Miss Kerr, President of the Undergraduate Society, was present, and urged the members of the Class to attend the meeting of the various societies of the Royal Victoria College more regularly.

Those members who had not yet paid their fees, were requested to do so as soon as possible.

The basketball manager called for volunteers to form a second team, and practice hours were then arranged.

The representative for the Annual informed the Class that all pictures must be taken before Nov. 18th, and all biographies handed in before Nov. 20th. Miss Jeannie Robins was elected to write the class history for the Annual.

MODERN POETRY OF MOTION.

The orchestra softly played, "Kiss me again." She gazed into his eyes And breathed a sigh, "Your dancing is like a poem," "Yes, yes, go on," he murmured. "An Amy Lowell poem: Are all mixed up," She answered.

MONTREAL, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1922.

A TEST FOR MCGILL.

McGill is on trial to-day as surely as she has ever been tested on gridiron or by contest. This afternoon lectures are being suspended for the purpose of tendering a fitting welcome to Admiral Sims, of the United States. Our University is acting as his host in attempting to do him honour; our University is representing to him the sentiments of its Corporation—in no small way indicative of the feeling of Canada—in conferring upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws. The spirit of the Campus in the ceremony will be manifested, not so much by the actual proceedings, as by the proportion of the student body who attend the convocation. In this matter there can be no doubt but that the undergraduates are in full and hearty accord with the actions of the Faculty; their unanimity must be demonstrated not by unassertive acquiescence, but by unrestricted support in the form of a record attendance when the gathering is called to order. Whether the impression which remains with our visitor after he leaves McGill be one of a large hall, sparsely filled with students, and of scattered applause; or whether it be one of a crowded meeting place, scarce capable of holding the many who congest its corners, and of genuine, unstinted college enthusiasm, rests upon the individual undergraduate. McGill will be judged to-day; she will not be found wanting.

THE MOCK PARLIAMENT.

The first Mock Parliament of the students of McGill can be called, unreservedly, a success. The Mock Parliament held last night could hardly be described, even by the most discriminating, as falling short of the expectations it had aroused. There was a most satisfying number of students and outsiders present, reaching a total in the neighbourhood of six hundred—the accommodation of the hall being taxed to care for the attendance. Many speakers took their place on the floor, most of the addresses being of an impromptu nature, and being all the more commendable on that account. There was a marked contrast to the opening of last year in the respect of the introduction of bulesque, and it is on this one point that criticism might be raised. One endeavour of a Mock Parliament, as its title implies, is to amuse; but in attaining this end the other aim of its institution must not be neglected—that of affording opportunity for public speaking. Certainly undue attention to either of these objectives detracts from the merit of the Mock Parliament. The sitting last evening tended towards the first, but was excusable on the grounds that it was the inaugural meeting, and justifiable on the response elicited from the gallery and the House. The two leaders deserve congratulation on the outcome of their efforts, as exemplified last night, as also on the methods of "stumping" employed about the campus in an attempt to provoke interest in the affair.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Daily is not responsible for the sentiments of letters published in the correspondence columns. Signed communications from graduates, undergraduates and members of the faculties will be placed in print if they are not of too great length.

Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office—that they write upon ONE SIDE OF THE PAPER ONLY.

Montreal, Nov. 9, 1922.

Editor McGill Daily.

Sir—On Thursday, Nov. 2, at 9.55 I inadvertently left my fountain pen in one of the rooms of the Arts Building. At about 10.05 I returned with the expectation to find my pen. But, alas, my pen was gone.

I did all that was necessary in such a case; I inquired of my mates, asked the janitor, etc. This failing, I put a notice to this effect in the Daily. The notice is still running, and the pen is still missing.

Sir, what happened to the pen in the brief space of ten minutes? Did it fly away? Most probably it did—into the pocket of the one who —. Shall I say stole it? Stole! That is, indeed, a hard word with which to accuse a McGill student. But the facts of the case must bear this out. In ten minutes a pen is gone, everything necessary done to recover it, and after a week there is no trace. Shall we say no one took it?

It is not, Mr. Editor, my intention to write this as a means to recover my pen. The value is little, the pain great. My intention is solely to condemn a too common practice of petty thievery. I am not sure whether the word "petty" is needed. What right have we of assuming that a person who commits petty thievery does not proceed further? Must we as McGill students, suspect those around us? Must such a condition exist that our property is not safe-guarded. If our property is not safe, is it not ad-

Tickets for billiards was suggested. It was also moved that in the case of tournaments an entrance fee should be exacted with no table charge. It was finally decided, however, to leave the matter until the next meeting.

The most important resolution of the evening was the installation of "Musical Thursday" "Jazz-nite" at the Allen will in future have nothing on the Union. In future, collegians may have their tea to the conducive strains of one of the many musical organizations of the university. There will be music from 4.30 to 6.00 p.m.

In regard to the library of the Union, it was decided not to attempt to renovate this but to donate the remaining books to the Redpath Library.

Another important matter which the Union House Committee wished to bring before the student body was that every student should read the "Daily" and especially the notices as there are often matters within these columns that are of utmost interest to every undergraduate. The discussion of the "Daily Week" was dwelt on. This will be a week in which every student can advertise the "Daily". More definite arrangements will be seen in the "Daily" at a later date.

GOVERNMENT DEFEATED BY OPPOSITION.

abolition of hanging as a form of capital punishment; the increase of the standing army; the continuation of the present system of government ownership of railways; the construction of a permanent trans-continental highway and kindred activity; the institution of intelligence tests for all university professors; provision for their exchange to remote countries; amendments to the Marriage Law; amendment to the present system of immigration and importation, so that increased activity may be experienced in both these departments.

The debate began with the Leader of the Opposition asking the Speaker of the Government if he had taken over a certain local paper. The Prime Minister retorted by saying, "Yes, he had and had appointed the Leader of the Opposition as editor of it."

The Hon. Mr. Cousens rose to move the adoption of the Speech from the Throne. He briefly outlined the policy of his party. Parts of his address drew forth cheers from the House.

Fortune, in a humorous speech, seconded the motion. He, like the former speaker, enumerated several of the planks in the Progressive platform. He took up the naval question, pleading for the increase of the navy personnel from three to five. He thought that some of the navy rules should be changed. For example, if the captain would marry, his wife might act as cook, as everyone knew the navy must be fed.

The Clerk of the House rose and gave the first reading to two bills. One the Militia Bill, another a Bill to form the Pneumatic Company of Canada. The constitution of the aforesaid company was set forth at length.

The Leader of the Opposition rose to make his speech. He said he wished to speak on Principle. There is a plank in the Government's platform which is to do away with Capital Punishment. Rather than this, said Barré, "we want more hanging." Talking about the standing army, Barré said it stood too much. He hoped that every private would be provided with a folding sofa and the officers with davenport. Also there had been a plank in the Government's platform to exchange professors with foreign countries. He said that judging from some of the countries and some of the professors, he thought the more remote some of the countries were the better. Concluding, Barré stated that he thought that the policy of the Government was too much one of dreamers and idealists.

He desired that the Speech from the Throne be amended so that that part of the Speech dealing with government ownership of railways be struck out and private control and ownership be inserted.

The amendment was seconded by Gaboury, who drew applause easily.

The Prime Minister, on rising to make his speech, said that first he had to publicly announce the lamentable death of two of McGill students. One E. O. Taylor and H. Holtham, the former a member of Medicine '24, the latter a member of Arts '23. He said that though the grief of the relatives of these men will be great, it will not succeed a great deal the grief of the University as a whole. The Prime Minister's words were an eloquent fitting tribute to the two deceased.

After this introduction the Leader of the Government refuted several of the remarks of the Leader of the Opposition. He remarked that lawyers were 1 . . . Here he was interrupted by the Opposition, who said that no man has the right to call another man a liar in the House. The speaker replied that this was correct and asked the Leader of the Government to explain his remarks. At this the Prime Minister stated that the Opposition should have allowed him to finish his sentence. He was going to say that lawyers are legal but so conscience stricken were the members of the law faculty that when they heard the pause after the words "lawyers are 1 . . . they immediately thought he was going to say "liars", no so, he contended, saying "legal". However, one is entitled to one's opinion. In this case it might seem the Prime Minister's defence was rather weak.

Before he had concluded his address there was a disturbance noticed in the House. A Bolshevik of the worst type, frock tail coat and beard, etc., some sort of a Turkish person, and a farmer, broke in. The entrance of these individuals, along with a policeman, caused such a commotion in the House that the affair was not clearly understood. However, the Speaker ordered the Sergeant-at-Arms escort outside any people who were not duly elected members of the House.

At some time during the proceeding McKeene, Mod. '24, as leader of a small party of dyed-in-the-wool Conservatives, remarked that he could not agree with the policy of the Government and so both he and his party would pledge themselves to the support of the Opposition. This was greeted with cheers.

A division was called and by the judgment the Government retained the majority. But a recount was asked by the Opposition and granted by the Speaker. This time a true count was taken and the result was:

Yeas—148.
Nays—139.

Thus, the Opposition are now the Government, and at the next session of the Parliament will take over the reigns of office.

AT THE THEATRES

IMPERIAL.

The Braminos open the vaudeville portion of the Imperial bill next week with an European Novelty Musical Act. Ray Conlin is a sub-vocal comedian. His voice is placed at will and responds with most any effect that Mr. Conlin may desire. He is an excellent comedian and his vocal gymnastics are supplied for humorous purposes only. Andrew Lewis and Pansy Norton present "Touring from Cost to Cost", a satire in four acts, by Jack Lait. Craig Campbell, the distinguished American Tenor, who is playing a short vaudeville engagement before the opening of the opera season, is ably assisted by Hector MacCarthy. His voice is faultless in purity and perfect in its method of production. Miss Claire Vincent will be seen in a smart offering "Learn to Smile"—through it the audience not only learns to smile but learns to laugh most heartily. Flaherty and Stening, an unusually clever eccentric comedian, and a bright, bright cheery, personable and attractive looking young woman comprise the personnel of this team of excellent entertainers who appear in an offering they describe as "Vaudeville Tid Bits", consisting of singing, dancing and talking.

"The Iron Trail", Rex Beach's popular story, featuring Wyndham Standing and Alma Tell, will be the photoplay for the week.

ALAS! THE BITTER TRUTH.

SENIOR TEAM NOW GUESTS IN SYRACUSE

Play Their Last Game Saturday Afternoon.

CARROLL OUT.

Backfield Weakened by Loss of Sterling Kicker.

At 5.15 yesterday evening the McGill football team pulled out from Windsor Station en route to Syracuse, where they will play the last game of the season. This is the return match for the game held here last fall, when the American players played on a snow-covered field. All the players left in the highest of spirits and with that confidence which, if it does not bring victory, exhibits that style of play which receives the applause and admiration of the spectators.

The team lacked "Dink" Carroll, who was injured last Saturday at the Queen's and McGill game, and Philpotts, who has been placed on the casualty list ever since the first game of the season. With Murphy in "Dink's" place and Flanagan on right wing, the line is much the same as usual.

The squad is expected to arrive in Syracuse in the early hours of the morning, but with a whole day to rest up they will be in the pink of condition to start the fray Saturday afternoon.

By official report, the tickets for the game have been selling at a fast rate all week, with a steady increase and already the best seats have been sold. Much enthusiasm has been aroused among the "Yanks" for it has been many years since the McGill football squad had battled on the Syracuse gridiron, and they are curious to see the often-heard-of McGill team in action.

The game will likely start with the following line-up:

Regulars.	Substitutes.
McGregor.....centre	D. Smith
Gamble.....l. guard	Foss
Woodruff.....r. guard	Wilson
Ambridge.....l. tackle	Walsh
Manson.....r. tackle
Flanagan.....l. end	Robertson

MEMBER OF STAFF WRITES TO FRIEND

Mr. R. de Silva Sends Letter to His College.

While searching through the various collegiate periodicals to secure material for the Exchange column, the "Daily" discovered a very interesting letter in the Alumni News of the Florida Alligator. This letter, written by Mr. Harry R. De Silva, of the Department of Psychology, to Dr. Murphy, of the University of Florida, was turned over to the "Alligator" for publication. It is as follows:

McGill University, Montreal, Can. Oct. 16, 1922.

Dear Dr. Murphy:
Am very comfortably settled in the dormitory of the Central Y. M. C. A. and have finished my second week of lecturing at McGill. Everything is most interesting and novel and enjoyable.

Professor Tait, my superior, is a hustler and a most congenial man to co-operate with. Also have found several very agreeable friends in the Arts Faculty.

I have four classes. From my point of view, being raised in a non co-ed school, my class of 35 girls in General Psych. is most interesting. Assure you it was quite a new experience and still enjoy the novelty of it. Moreover, having Gym class after my hour, they turn out arrayed in costumes thus. (Here Pete encloses a small snapshot of the girls in Gym suits.) This perhaps, at least for the first lecture was the outstanding novelty.

From my point of view of time, my class of over 200 students in Medical school is most expensive. They are last year students and about three quarters of them exceed me, or at least they appear to exceed me in age. Naturally I have to rely on knowledge and not on appearance in such a case. The summer course at Harvard Medical School in Psychology has aided me greatly, and my knowledge of this enables me to impress 'em once in a while. Hope to get off a hypnotic demonstration next week which should add interest as well as prestige. The course is entitled Abnormal Psychology, though of course the most part is devoted mainly to rudimentary experimental psychology, as medical students here, as is generally the case everywhere, are sorely lacking in psychological foundation and appreciation of much data in our domain.

Other two courses are in Social Psychology and in the Introductory Lab. course.

TWO RUGGER GAMES ON FOR TOMORROW

McGill First and Second Fifteens Will Play Montreal.

Although the Intercollegiate and Mac-Tier Cup Rugger series for this season are concluded, the McGill team are still practising hard for their return game with the Montreal English Club tomorrow afternoon. Several weeks ago, it will be remembered, McGill were beaten by the score of eight to nil after an extremely closely contested game, but this time they are determined to turn the tables on the Montrealers. The men have been working hard all week, and show considerable improvement since their last encounter with Montreal. The latter will be weakened to some extent by the loss of Wanstall, their star three-quarter, but otherwise will field the same team as last time.

The present intention is to stage two games tomorrow, the second fifteens of both teams also playing each other. This will give those men who have been turning out all year to practice without playing in any matches an opportunity of taking part in a real game, and it is to be hoped that the Montrealers will be able to provide a full team. The "seconds" game will follow immediately after the senior one, both being played at the Stadium.

The McGill men who will play tomorrow are as follows:

"A" Team—F. back, A. N. McLeod; three-quarters, H. Marpole, H. C. D. Cooper, J. L. MacNamee, MacDonald; halves, J. R. Cooper, H. S. Holman; forwards, G. Wilson, A. J. Walter, E. Brown, K. Patterson, J. Lochhead, O'Brien, D. N. McGoun, J. A. Taylor. "B" Team—Full back, McAvity, Capt.; three-quarters, Legg, Eve, Wise, Woolcombe; halves, Price, Murray; forwards, Newton, Smith, Wilson, Walsh, Everett, Donald Grey, Laidlaw, Campbell. All players will please be out at 4.15 today.

WHAT JAZZ EXPRESSES?

One of the most hotly contested sectors in the war between the proponents of classic art and the exponents of modern expression is that where the lovers of grand opera and the modern jazz hounds cross swords. Jazz music has been ridiculed, defiled and heaped with vituperation. It has been called a disease, a crime, a barbaric excess, an immorality, and every noxious epithet which its critics have been able to think of. And still the modern folk listen to the new music buy it for their phonographs in preference to the classic records and apologize all the while for their taste. The situation indicates that there is something in the new music which reaches to the inmost feelings of the people.

Criticism of new experiments in all art is not always stimulated merely because the revolutionary artists violate the traditional and accepted theories of what constitutes artistic expression but because they develop deeply exaggerated and bizarre elements in their creations. The strident repetition and the sharp articulation of the melodies are responsible for the criticism which jazz music is incurring from those who have been taught to appreciate a soothing rhythm or a majestic theme judiciously worked to a climax and as judiciously mellowed to a finale.

Modern music has fallen heir to more than the ordinary amount of these ills from its predecessor, rag-time. No doubt this is owing to the hectic, unnatural demands of the habitues of the dance halls and amusement places where it has been developed, and where the disastrous effects of a modern age of industrialism are seen at their worst in the abnormal craving for novelty and excitement.

The goodness or badness of an art is usually judged by the reality with which it interprets the life of its age, and in this respect jazz music seems to fulfill the needs of the people of today. Industrialized folk music! It has been called by William S. Schultz, writing in The Nation, Oct. 18. The modern compositions contain the answers to ele-

McGill has much of the real college spirit and "pep." Had a good old fashioned rally last week, and a great number of speakers. Hadn't experienced anything like it since I left Florida and I felt mighty good. McGill lost to Queens in Rugby last Saturday and they had a very creditable cheering demonstration in spite of defeat. Don't like the rugby as well as our game. They don't have forward passes and interference, which adds so much to the interest as well as teamwork. Their big game comes with Toronto here this coming Saturday. Will have a record crowd and enthusiasm in spite of a weak team and odds against them.

Do wish so much I could get down to Cambridge to see the Florida game, but it is impossible. Have classes on Saturday and could not possibly make it. However, my spirit is with you and am sure the team will make a fine showing. By the way, if you would not mind, ask the Alligator to start wandering up this way. Sent in my subscription some time ago, but have not received a bit of news. Hungry for some.

My best regards,
HARRY R. DE SILVA.

SCIENCE '23 WINS FROM COMMERCE '25

Closely Contested Ball Game Won by Engineers

In one of the closest and most keenly contested inter-class baseball matches of the season Science '23 last night battled their way to a 13 to 2 victory over the Commerce '25 nine. The game was full of exciting moments after the conclusion of the first two innings, Commerce first springing into the lead when they fell on McNutt in the third and totalled two runs. Their batting rally by no means put the game on ice for them, however, as Science came back strong in the fourth stanza of the game and when the smoke of battle had cleared away the score board showed that they had amassed the total of seven runs. Some pretty fielding by Smallhorn in the fifth saved the situation for the engineers and in their half of the inning four more of their men galloped across the plate for scores. Johnson was run off second in this inning but by the execution of a beautiful fade-away slide made third and saved the day. Commerce were again unable to score in the sixth but the Science men, who by this time seemed to have pretty well gauged the style of Milne, the Commerce pitcher, tallied twice more.

Commerce looked rather dangerous in the seventh when Murphy slammed out a nice single but Johnson, playing third for Science, nailed a hot liner and threw to Jackson for the double play that spoiled any chance Commerce may have had for a win.

The brand of ball displayed was of a very high order and the winners should make a very favorable showing against any team with which they may happen to meet. The teams lined up in the following order:

Science '23.	Commerce '25.
Moran.....catcher	Kenrick
McNutt.....pitcher	Milne
Jackson.....1st base	Pundy
Smallhorn.....2nd base	Rosovitch
Johnson.....3rd base	Murphy
McCracken.....s. s.	McRae
Stearns.....field	Somerville
Champion.....field	Diffley
Simpson.....field	McLeod
.....subs.	Witmore

Waiter—Sir, when you eat here you need not dust off the plate.

Customer—Beg pardon; force of habit; I'm an umpire.

RADIO CLUB HAS MUSICAL CONCERT

Mr. Demers Gives Interesting Lecture—Officers Chosen.

A delightful radio-musical concert was the main attraction at the meeting of the Radio Club on Wednesday night. Mr. P. Demers, past Secretary-Treasurer of the Radio Association, was the Club's guest for the evening, and was able, by means of an excellent receiving set with a frame aerial, to pick up music from the Canada Cement Building, Marconi Company, and the Northern Electric Company.

Mr. Demers also showed some very fine slides and delivered a short address on the improved apparatus now being used in connection with Radio. The speaker also detailed the action of the valve in the elementary receiver and spoke on the general principles of Radio Telephony and the characteristics of aerials.

After Mr. Demers' interesting address, the officers of the coming year were elected. Dr. Barnes was chosen as Honorary President, and Mr. J. A. Taylor as President for the year. Finlayson was elected Vice-President and P. Webster Secretary-Treasurer.

EXPERIENCES OF DE PAUW GRADUATE

Civil Wars Chief Occupation of People

If you lived in the small republic of Latvia, on the shores of the Baltic, you would say that there had been wars since 1918 which have been more important than the world war. Joseph J. Somerville, a graduate of DePauw University, class of 1912, who has just recently returned to America after serving as Senior Secretary of the American Y.M.C.A. in Latvia, says that to the Latvian the most important conflicts in history have been the two which took place within the borders of that country in the past few years. In one, Latvia volunteer army composed of farmers and peasants, and lead in some cases by students, drove out the Bolsheviks. In another they prevented the attempted invasion of the Junker forces of Van der Goltz and Bernhardt.

Latvia is small, about the size of West Virginia, and its population is barely that of the city of Philadelphia, which is about 2,000,000. Mr. Somerville points out that this little country, formerly a part of Russia, is suffering from the great losses of life and property due to the war, and the lack of capital, and yet is standing firmly against the persistent efforts of Bolshevism, and in this way is serving the larger countries of Western Europe. It is able to do this because the people are of a high average of intelligence; there is very little illiteracy, and the people are industrious and thrifty.

Economic and social conditions are remarkably good, considering the vast handicap imposed by the various wars of recent years. The Government is improving its schools and universities, restoring, as rapidly as it can, its manufacturing industries and building railways.

Mr. Somerville was born and lived in Muncie until his graduation from DePauw University in 1912. In 1918 Mr. Somerville went on through Siberia, in both army and civilian work for the American Y.M.C.A. in Vladivostok. Returning to the United States in 1920

FISTS, FALLS & FOILS

The group of boxers who invaded St. Anne de Bellevue staged some very classy bouts at the Parish Hall there, before a crowd of several hundred people.

Woolsey and Merritt went through pounders, put up a great exhibition, much damage to either.

A scrapper called Martin, was put up against Sheffer, of McGill. Both of these buddies, who are approximately 110 pounders, put up a great exhibition, much to the satisfaction of the crowd.

Martin, by the way, is no mean battler. He is a Provincial champion and incidentally he disposed of an opponent that same evening, previous to his bout with Schleiffer.

Wilson, Becking and Sharpe, in the 118 pound class, alternated in order to supply a few rounds of boxing.

Brady missed the train and his opponent being so disappointed that it necessitated the above change.

Vernon Snow, a 125 pounder, was out on the floor at yesterday afternoon's practice. This mitt slinger will give an interesting account of himself.

Goldapple, of the Dept. of Pharmacy, is out again to train for the faculty eliminations.

This embryonic pitt-roller may be small, but he has a wicked pair of mitts.

Wiggins, of track fame, and Cecil Hay, the basketball player, were out with the sluggers at yesterday's practice.

Adams, the fighting parson, and Sullivan, last year's college champion, mixed things for a while yesterday afternoon. The coach has great hopes for both these men.

An interesting figure on the floor yesterday was a young ambitious fellow, who had suffered recently in a street fight.

This embryonic fistic enthusiast now swears vengeance. He is in training for a certain purpose—and shows it.

The heavyweight contenders are conspicuous by their absence. Any man in this class, who has any fighting ability in him, could easily make the intercollegiate team.

Black, of Varsity, it is rumored, is in excellent condition this year. Marshall should be able to give him a good argument.

First Frosh—"What can I write my Essay on?"

Second Frosh—"I'll lend you a few sheets of paper."

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS CLUB TO HOLD DANCE

It is now definitely assured that the Eastern Townships' Club dance will take place in the near future. At the meeting of the Club held last night in the Union, after some discussion it was decided that the dance would be held on or about the twenty-second of this month.

A committee was appointed to make all the arrangements. It was originally thought that the seventeenth would be a better date, but in view of the short time which this would allow for arrangements to be made, it was postponed. Gilson, Bryce and Caswell form the committee for the dance.

All Eastern Township men, therefore, are urged to get their tickets promptly, as the dance will undoubtedly be a most entertaining function. The tickets may be obtained from the Committee.

The exact date of the dance will be announced in a few days. A meeting of the Committee to conclude final arrangements will be held next Monday at 5 p.m. in the lounge room of the Union.

VICTORIA FAVORS EARLY CLOSING

A few weeks ago a letter appeared in the corresponding column of the "Varsity" suggesting closing for the Christmas holidays on Dec. 15, instead of the customary date of Dec. 22. The writer set forth as a reason for his suggestion the fact that Christmas employment would be easily obtainable for those who worked their way through college.

Some discussion ensued through the columns of the "Varsity" and the general opinion seemed to be in favour of the movement. The matter was discussed by the Student's Council. A recommendation was passed on the matter to be submitted to the senate and it was decided to hold a referendum in each faculty or college that might back up the recommendation.

Victoria was the first to hold the referendum, and the result of it indicates great popularity for the early closing. The voting was held last night and was 4 to 1 in favour of the movement.
